Who is it designed for?

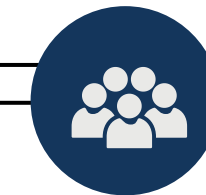

These projects are designed for both businesses and local authorities. They are particularly beneficial for councils seeking to effectively allocate funding to sustainability topics and for businesses requiring data-driven insights into sustainability trends and challenges.

Why it benefits the Local Authority?

This program ensures that funding allocated to sustainability topics is used in the most efficient and effective way to make the biggest impact. By leveraging expert research, Local Authorities gain data-driven insights and recommendations, which helps inform the effective allocation of funding that aligns with both business needs and the council's own sustainability ambitions. This approach ensures greater efficiency with both time and resources.

What participants gain out of the program?

Participants gain valuable insights and recommendations on sustainability trends and challenges. For councils, the research helps them understand where they can support businesses most efficiently and effectively.

The output provides a practical, clear, and useful report that can guide strategic decisions. For the wider economy, such research drives innovation, contributing to a knowledge-based economy capable of addressing regional and national sustainability challenges.
