Connect Local, Buy Local: Fostering Sustainable Supply Chains

Who is it designed for?

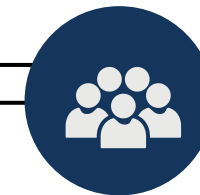

These events are designed for sustainable businesses looking to connect with procurement opportunities, as well as procurement teams from councils, the NHS, and large organisations seeking local suppliers. The target audience includes SMEs, large organizations, local authorities, and NHS entities.

Why it benefits the Local Authority?

These events are a key mechanism for the Local Authority to foster local connections and bring sustainability topics to the forefront of the agenda. By connecting local businesses to each other and with larger procurement teams, they increase collaboration within local supply chains, which can reduce carbon footprints and boost the local economy.

What participants gain out of the program?

Participants benefit from facilitated connections between sustainable businesses and procurement teams, leading to new opportunities and the creation of ongoing local business collaborations.

Businesses gain insights from detailed surveys with buyers to understand their exact needs, followed by educational feedback sessions. This helps local businesses secure contracts, thereby boosting economic growth and strengthening the local supply chain.
